Business Terms and Conditions

This list cancels all previous quotations, and the terms and conditions shown will carry in all Bulletins for spring, 1927.

The prices printed in this list are based upon present market conditions, and are for immediate acceptance, subject to change without notice and stock being unsold. All goods are offered f. o. b. West Grove, and boxing is charged at cost. We sell 250 or more at the 1,000 rate, and 25 or more at the 100 rate.

Orders are booked with the understanding that they shall become void should injury befall the stock from flood, error in count, drought, fire, or other causes beyond our control.

Shipments travel at purchaser's risk, and in the absence of definite instructions from the buyer, stock will be forwarded according to our best judgment without assuming responsibility.

Claims, if any, must be made immediately on receipt of goods.

Terms cash, except to those with established credit, who may make special arrangements for payment.

We endeavor to keep varieties true to name and will replace, on proper proof, any not true; but we do not guarantee the success of the grower. In event of untrue stock, our liability must be limited to invoice value at time of shipment.

Copy of Pennsylvania State Certificate of Inspection on all orders.

We invite correspondence from prospective buyers, but ask that all communications be written on printed business stationery so that we can grant trade prices only to those individuals or firms actually entitled to receive them.

The plant names used in this list conform, for the most part, with "Standardized Plant Names," adopted by The American Joint Committee on Horticultural Nomenclature.

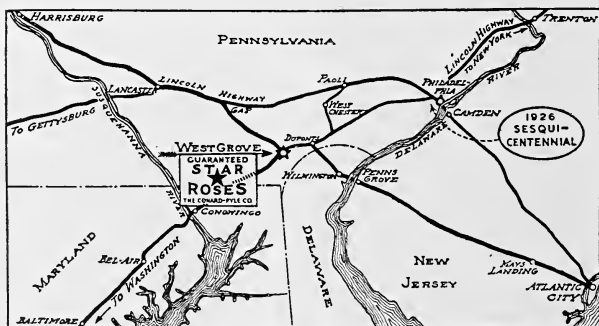

Members American Association of Nurserymen, Eastern Nurserymen's Association, Pennsylvania Nurserymen's Association, etc.

"Best hardy yellow Rose we know of, and most popular species in America."—DR. E. H. WILSON, Arnold Arboretum

Looks Like a Million Dollars, Doesn't It?

HUGONIS. A remarkably hardy shrub Rose with clear yellow, single flowers growing on the branches like golden hollyhocks, in late April or early May. Hugonis makes a symmetrical bush about 6 feet wide and as high when matured. The reddish maroon canes are in themselves most attractive and the small acacia-like foliage turns purple in the fall.

You have the chance to get all of your Hugonis here, from the most plentiful supply in America, and we feel certain you will agree on seeing them that they are absolutely the finest to be had, bar none. The plants are so good that you will have plenty of uses for them, for they'll make you splendid specimens as well as desirable features for the shrubbery border, the driveway, the garden background, the corner, or a handsome hedge. Plan to use a lot of them! The price this season is much less than one-tenth of the original selling-figure. That means your profits are greater, too. Better buy now!

Showing the splendid quality of Hybrid Perpetual blooms

Hybrid Perpetual Roses

THE DEPENDABLE HARDY JUNE BLOOMERS

This family of Roses is perfectly at home in the North because they are very hardy, though winter protection will not hurt them a bit. A few of them, like Frau Karl Druschki, Mrs. John Laing, George Arends, and some others, do bloom again in the autumn or late summer, but the majority do not deserve the name Perpetual as to bloom. No words, however, can describe their appearance in June, when they burst like silent fireworks, glorifying the garden with a profusion of giant, fragrant Roses, radiant in white and red and pink. There are no reliable yellows.

During the weeks of June and early July, the Hybrid Perpetuals produce far more flowers than any everblooming sort, and almost all of them can be made to bloom in the fall by proper pruning and feeding, but they are altogether worth while for their unique June splendor alone. In this class are found the noblest red Roses, filled to the brim with true Rose perfume, and old varieties as rich in their heritage of sentiment as in beauty. Some of them should be in every garden.

“The Best I’ve Seen

That same comment was made by at least ten big Rose nurserymen here at different times in the summer. Do you wonder?

Well, sir, those same vigorous Roses are now skillfully stored in special Rose-houses, not heeled in as in bygone days, but packed away by a modern process. Every individual plant is resting snug and well-protected, and all of the roots, even up to the tiniest fibers, are carefully, painstakingly, covered with good old Mother Earth. You can be sure, then, that all of the summer vitality still abounds, every ounce or atom of it, as much as it is humanly possible to have. The best Roses kept best for you. That’s what it amounts to.

Read the description of each variety in the following list with extra care and check up your wants. If you act today and get your order in before assortments are broken, you may be away ahead and money in pocket!

An entirely new type of Canna

☛ Canna, Mrs.

ENTIRELY improved in every particular, this remarkably fine Canna, Mrs. Pierre S. du Pont, by a wide margin outrivals all other pink Cannas. Its ruffled flowers of luscious watermelon-pink color do not wilt in the hot summer sun and come in immense heads from early summer until frost. The individual flowers are very large and handsome, the rich color attracting the eye past dozens of other Cannas planted in the same place. Its foliage is green and healthy, and the heads of the flowers, on bronze stems, stand out of the foliage like beautiful bouquets. One plant will make several heads of bloom in a season.

Instantly attracted by this masterpiece from the loving hands of the late Antoine Wintzer, discriminating bulbmen bought eagerly; and the largest orders received each year are “repeats.” Actually, this Canna of Cannas may now be found in almost every bulb catalog of importance in the country.

Naturally, here, from the introducers, is the best place to buy. First, because you may be sure the plump, critically selected roots are more than equal to any on the market, and, furthermore, the price is now much less than one-tenth of the original selling-figure.

Many men say that the best way to sell this new Canna is to plant a few on your own place in a prominent spot. The display is bound to attract and convince your customers, besides adding distinction to your grounds.

For certain delivery, order early!

How to Get Better Results with Lining-Out Evergreens

In a time when so much secondary stock is being put on the market by inexperienced growers, it is more than ever important to know your source of supply. For more than twenty-eight years we have been learning how to start young plants, and, as pioneers with the method of growing stock in pots, we believe we have helped bring about a marked change for better propagation because nurserymen found our pot-plants better rooted, more certain to give thrifty stands. As a matter of fact, almost a score of prominent nurserymen who formerly propagated their own Evergreens have turned to us and have regular orders on file. Doesn't it seem, then, that others find profits by buying the best?

You may be assured that this year's stock is absolutely the best by far, for we try to improve each season. Furthermore, we honestly feel that plant for plant, dollar for dollar, you get the most for your money right here. Why not, then, mark down below the number you ought to have of each variety, and send us your list to reserve for spring delivery. A lot of other fellows will be doing this, too, so hustle yours along—today, if possible. You'll never regret it!

Balling and burlapping, 15 cts. for varieties priced at 35 cts. or over; 10 cts. for those at less than 35 cts.

This Big Seller Pays You Big!

J. Horace McFarland, editor of "The American Rose Annual," says, "There are more copies of 'How to Grow Roses' sold annually than the total sales of all other Rose books combined."

Dr. E. M. Mills, ex-president of The American Rose Society, recommends it heartily: "If I could put only one rose book in the hands of a rose amateur, it would be 'How to Grow Roses.' It is practical and at the same time poetical. I have a large rose library, but it is the best illustration of Mulum in parvo that I have."

"We found your book 'How to Grow Roses' very helpful in preparing the beds and making the selections for our municipal Rose-Garden."—Superintendent of Parks in a large southern city.

Complete, just-what-your-customers-want information on all phases of growing Roses; How to make up Rose-beds; How to Plant, Prune, Protect, etc., with a special list of varieties for various localities, etc. 192 pages chockful of meaty reading.
